*Excerpts from some Catholic Inner-City Schools Fund students:

From 8th grader Laurence -- I would like to thank the entire staff at St. Joseph and CISE for helping my mother and shaping me into the young man I am today. This experience has allowed me to see that the word impossible really means I'M POSSIBLE. Your actions have spoken much louder than any words, and I will never forget it.

From 8th grader Jasmine – CISE has helped out my mom and I big time. She doesn't have to pay any money for me to go to high school because of the strong education I have received here at St. Francis Seraph School, I received scholarships from three different parochial high schools. Now, she can save up her money and keep supporting the family. I am happy because without CISE I wouldn't be able to attend the parochial high school of my choice, which is Seton. Thank you CISE for supporting my educational growth!

Now You Know

There is a story told in a letter of St. Jerome to a friend, Eustochium, about a nightmare. Jerome was questioned by an angel. The angel asked him who he was. Jerome said that he was a Christian. The angel said, “No, you are a Ciceronian!”, because Jerome was a great admirer of Cicero. Then the angel beat him.

What do we know about angels? All the angels who exist existed before material creation. When we profess that God created all that invisible, “unseen”, that means the angelic realm. There is no telling how many angels there are. Scripture indicates at certain points that there are so many angels that they are hardly to be counted. God knows, but we couldn’t count them if we tried.

As a matter of fact, some think that there may be an angel for everything that moves, guiding it according to God’s great plan. In any event, there are far more angels than there are of us.

We know from Scripture that we have angel guardians. Christ even refers to the angels of little ones who see the face of God (Matthew 18:10). Angels, not having bodies, are not limited to one place as we are. They are where they need to be acting. In seeing the face of God at the same time as they guard us, they watch over us according to God’s will.

Angels perpetually behold the face of God and worship Him in the heavenly hosts, wreathed and thronging around the celestial altar of the Lamb, singing praises. Holy angels are never not worshipping God, even when they have a job to do that refers to our lives. A “job”, a mission from God that makes these incredible pure spirit persons “messengers... heralds...”. (Many many thanks to Fr. John Zuhlsdorf.)

Please Pray for All These People

"Worship is a spiritual weapon. When we worship God, we enter into His presence in a powerful way. Because demons tremble at His presence, they are reluctant to follow us there. No doubt the Devil is busy tempting us and trying to distract us even when we attend Mass. But if we give ourselves wholly to participating in the Mass, he has little room to operate. In fact, true worship focuses our attention on God: praising Him for who He is and thanking Him for what He has done. When our minds and hearts are centered on God, the Enemy's provocations and enticements lose their power. Frequent Mass attendance, then, is an effective weapon of our warfare." — Paul Thigpen
